Giblyn Lists Plans For School to Ease Archer St. Crowding

18 Classrooms With Other Features And Gymnasium Included

Plans for the proposed new school to be erected in the block bounded by West Merrick rd., South Bayview ave., Smith st. and Stokes ave., in the southwest section of the village, were outlined to a group of civic association members at a special meeting of the Board of Education. President Leo P. Giblyn told of the congestion in the Archer st. school, the new building is designed to relieve, and the indications are that, unless something is done to help the situation, the school will become a serious problem.

John W. Dodd augmented the president's remarks. Mr. Giblyn pointed out that until 1946 accommodations in the Archer st. school were satisfactory, but added, "A sharp increase in enrollment occurred at that time and this trend has continued to grow. He showed how the enrollment has increased from 671 for 1946 to 804 at present. Without taking into consideration home building projects in the south end of the village, it was estimated the enrollment would increase to 1,000 by 1951."

There was a large turnout at the installation of Robert N. Kinsey to succeed Frank J. Half a dozen veterans of the department received 25-year badges and other honors were conferred. Members and friends of the Freeport Police Boys Club put on an interesting program and the evening's festivities were concluded with a supper served at the South Shore Yacht Club.

Burford M. Southard officiated as the installing officer, and all the members of the Village Board were seated on the stage during the ceremony.

The captains were the first to be inducted, as follows: James Ryder, Hose 1; Kenneth Verity, Hose 2; Christopher Matkisch, Hose 3; William Mulholland, Hose 4; Herbert Mulligan, Hose 5; Arthur Burdette, Engine 1, and Robert VonElin, Truck 1.

Then followed the wardens: George J. Schwan and James H. Ryder, of Hose 1; Vincent Giordano, 2; John MacDonald, 3; Franklin Gremple, 4; Eugene Hudley, Jr., 5; Robert Graupner, and James Gillen, 6.

Eddie Vasil INTRODUCES

... Anthony A. Constantino

"Born on a bag of cement." That's the way those who know him and have seen him work, describe Tony Constantino. One could easily call him "Mr. Freeport Parking Fields" because as John C. Peterson's superintendent, he is completely responsible for the construction of Freeport's progressive program of eight parking fields.

Tony Constantino is a life-long resident of Freeport. When other boys were building castles in the air, Tony was actively working with his father, veteran contractor Frank Constantino, on various construction projects. It was because of this training and his father's practical philosophy of life, that Tony, although only thirty-five years old, is today a top-notch figure in parking field and highway construction. "Tony's been with me fourteen years," said John C. Peterson, head of Peterson Construction, "and I attribute his skill to the fact that his father made him toe the mark, thereby guiding him in the direction of success." Tony attended the local schools and is a graduate of Freeport High School. He was active in FHS sports, especially in baseball.

ANTHONY A. CONSTANTINO

Freeport's progressive and planned-for-the-future parking field program is being appreciated more and more as time goes by, but actually, Freeport reaches its zenith of expansion. Many adjacent communities are already feeling the toll of improper planning in this respect. Corrective measures later cost taxpayers double and triple the original construction. Capable men like Tony Constantino make it possible and yet build with the highest degree of perfection and as quickly as possible. It is because of these factors that this concern has become an island community.

The Tony Constantinos (formerly Helen Rostkorsky) reside at 215 North Columbus ave., with their two children, Alice 8, and Frank 5. He is a member of Bishop Molloy Council, Knights of Columbus, National Highway Construction Superintendents Association, Good Roads Association, and the St. Rocco's Society of Freeport. It is in this latter organization that the name Constantino is very prominent. Frank Constantino, the father, has been an active charter member for many years, and his brother Carman now serves as president. He is a veteran of World War II; served with the 1637 Construction Battalion U.S. Army.

One has to work to be closely associated with Tony Constantino, to really appreciate the ingenuity and ability of the man. During the full program he plans, assigns, and supervises the work of nearly two hundred men. He not only is able to operate every piece of equipment, but also to handle the work of the skilled trades involved. He has been blessed with a terrific memory which is a great asset, because, forgetting Constantino recognizes nothing else but his work. Rain, cold, family, record-breaking pace. Yet they admire and respect him. Tony is very modest. "I merely do the best I can," he says. "It's the cooperation of the Village and State engineers and the men, which makes it all possible." This is Tony Constantino, "Born on a bag of cement."

Marvelous Days These Just Ask Cashier Nixon

These sure are marvelous times, as was explained by W. Sergeant Nixon, cashier of the Freeport Bank last Monday. After spending Easter week in Palm Beach, he breakfasted at 8:30 A.M. He boarded a plane at 9:30 and arrived at his desk in the bank at 3:20 P.M. The longest part of the trip was taken in getting from LaGuardia Field to Freeport.

The rest of the schedule is as follows: May 2, Garden City, home; May 6, Peekskill Military Academy at Peekskill; May 9, at Sewanhaka; May 17, at Manhasset; May 26, at Wauhanaka, here, and May 31, Manhasset, here.

Budget of $730,067, With 6-Cent Cut in Tax Rate is Proposed

Board to Hold Hearing
On Estimates Tonight;
Valuation Increased

A net proposed budget of $730,067.35 for the fiscal year 1950-51 will be presented for consideration of the taxpayers by the Village Board at its annual budget hearing to be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Municipal Building. If adopted without amendment, the tax rate for the next year will be $1.52 on each $100 of assessed valuation, or six cents less than the $1.58 rate levied for the year just closed. The gross proposed budget totals $1,229,882.24, against $1,030,159.04 for 1949-50, an increase of $199,723.20. Receipts from sources other than taxation are estimated to yield $499,814.89 as compared with $329,324.37 expected at this time last year, an increase of $170,490.52. This would leave $730,067.35 to be raised by taxation, a difference of $29,231.78. However, there has been an increase of $3,674,065 in the assessed valuation of the village, a raise of from $44,356,682 last year to $48,030,747 which accounts for the reduction in the proposed tax rate.

The proposed budget is itemized as follows: General government, $140,249.50; Protection of persons and property, $282,317.47; Sanitation and the promotion of cleanliness, $249,086.80; Highway Department, $128,588.50; Recreation, $51,874; Miscellaneous, $23,032.43; Municipal indebtedness, $258,374.75; At the Municipal garage, $24,437; Parking meters, $4,100, and Department of the 1950-51 season will be determined. The program Tuesday night will be provided by the two-plate team of Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe. Both young men hail from the west. Whittemore having been born and raised in the college town of Vermillion, S.D., and Lowe in Denver, Col. Each began his musical studies at a very tender age, the former as a pianist and the latter as a violinist. They met as students in the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., where both majored in composition.

In the first game of the season the Red Devils trounced Poly Prep of Brooklyn by a 16 to 0 score. Tomorrow the Freeporters will meet Garden City.

The rest of the schedule is as follows: May 2, Garden City, home; May 6, Peekskill Military Academy at Peekskill; May 9, at Sewanhaka; May 17, at Manhasset; May 26, at Wauhanaka, here, and May 31, Manhasset, here.

Appleton's Corner

By NORMAN APPLETON

The young couple stood quietly in the rear of the store. They had been reading from a list before them. They obviously needed everything from bulbs to brushes, but there was none of the usual excitement and enthusiasm of putting the finishing touches to their new store. Finally in desperation I asked, "Why this silent treatment—kids?"

"Then as though in unison they blurted angrily, 'It's Freeport.' Puzzled, I inquired, 'Why, what's up?'"

Mary paused just long enough to catch her breath and then she started. "Jim and I have always had one dream—some day we would own a little business—a little place all our own. Long before the war and all through the war we saved every cent we could lay our hands on."

"When I was overseas," Jim said, "I sent my full check home so that Mary could put it in the bank. I even stopped smoking so that we could have a few more bucks."

Mary said simply, "I guess we should be the happiest kids in the world. In a sense our dream has come true. Look at us—we have our own business now."

"A lot of good it does us," Jim said.

"Why do you say that?" I asked. Mary smiled wisely and replied, "Here we are in a town with every kind of store imaginable. So what do they do—when they want to buy something they go to New York. They go everywhere but here."

Jim interrupted, "Bigger than the biggest department store. Then he laughed bitterly. "Tasteful of going to New York and knocking themselves out—they have everything right here under their noses."

Mary said, "Maybe if they knew—if they really knew what they're doing to us. With most of them it's just habit—they know the prices are the same—but it's kind of an outing—something to do. Most of them use it as an excuse to get away from the kids for the day."

Jim said sadly, "I don't know how much longer we can hold out."

"Norman," Mary said, "I mean this sincerely—if these people got something special in New York or wherever they went—perhaps I wouldn't feel the way I do—but they don't—they just don't. Half of them have never even tried us—how would they know? I sat in silent agreement—there was no discussion here—these kids were right—and they deserved a break."

MOVIES, MIKES and TELEVISION TALK

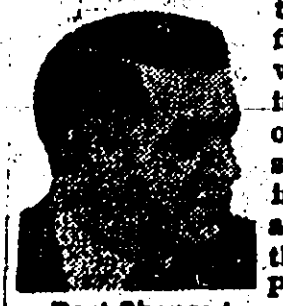

By LYNN WILSON—ANS Features

WHEN IT COMES to out-tying crooks or "private eyes," there's no one better than the Postal Inspectors, as proven by a recent incident on the "Martin Kane, Private Eye," television show (NBC-Thursday, 10:00 p.m., E.T.).

The scriptwriters had a Postal Inspector open a mail box and give the letter to William Gargan, who stars as Martin Kane, forgetting the fact that the department never opens any letters, except those in the deadletter office, without a court order—and the postal department was on the phone within minutes to let NBC know of the error!

WAR HERO, BALLPLAYER, BUSINESSMAN—With packed ballparks in the offing, "We, the People" (NBC and NBS-TV, Friday) looked to Bert Shepard, war hero and former big league, to throw out its first ball. Bert, who lost a leg in a bomb run over Berlin, is still a tireless inspiration to all Americans.

The late Ernie Pyle, a favorite of the late Ernie Pyle, son of Dana, Ind. (pop. 845), Bert peddles typewriters in New York City in the off season and this year will twist for a strong semi-pro club to get his arm in shape for a big league comeback in 1951.

TWO SPECIAL EASTER PROGRAMS, "The Betrayal and the Crucifixion," and "The Resurrection," will be broadcast on "The Greatest Story Ever Told" (Sundays, 5:30 p.m., EST, over ABC) on Palm Sunday, April 2, and Easter Sunday, April 9.

NEWSPAPERS and Radio can do much toward helping to stamp out the illegal sale of narcotics... which result in the majority of crimes in our country. Commendable example is CBS' weekly "Perry Mason" program and its series of dramas based on distribution and use of marihuana.

John Larkin plays the role of lawyer, "Perry Mason," and much of the material comes direct from the Bureau of U. S. Treasury Department. The dramatized series was planned to enlighten the public on how a ring operates within a large criminal syndicate with the hope of gaining public cooperation in helping to stamp out this menace which undermines the very roots of our country.

AT 17 Jimmy Durante played the piano at a beach resort and sometimes accompanied an unknown singing waiter—Eddie Cantor.

Nash New 'Rambler' Is On Display Here

May Be Seen in Rooms On Brooklyn Avenue; Feature of Machine

Nash's spiffy looking new "Rambler" is on display at the Freeport Nash display room, 14 Brooklyn ave. The factory-delivered price of $1,998, includes such extras as radio heater, directional signals, and other equipment which Freeport Nash says are worth nearly $300. The only additional costs to be paid by the car buyer, it adds, are transportation and state and local taxes.

Like other models in the Nash line, the Rambler has the unitized body and frame construction and front and rear wheels are fully enclosed by streamlined fenders. Front and rear fenders merge with the body to give an unbroken streamlined appearance. For body protection, a chrome strip of stainless steel, at the base of the fenderline, runs the length of the car.

A broad, low hood is somewhat shorter than that of other Nash cars. It slopes forward for greater visibility. The radiator grille, of oval shape, has heavy horizontal bars that blend with a massive front bumper. The fabric top, operated by an electric driving mechanism, travels in fixed grooves atop the frame. A flexible rear window folds without damage or can be removed entirely for driving with the top up.

The new model weighs approximately 2,500 pounds. It stands 59 1/2 inches high and is 15 inches wider than it is high. It is powered with an 82 horsepower, six-cylinder L-head engine with a 7.25-to-1 compression ratio. Nash engineers say it will give up to 30 miles to a gallon of gasoline—and more when equipped with over-drive.

Over-drive is offered as optional equipment. The Rambler is a five-passenger car. Its interior is eight feet, two inches long. The front seat has four feet, 10 inches of elbow room and the rear seat four feet, five inches. Its overall length is 176 inches which compares with 201 inches for the Nash Statesman model, and the wheelbase is 100 inches.

Body styles of the new line eventually will include the convertible, station wagon, two-door sedan and other models. In fixed grooves atop the frame. A flexible rear window folds without damage or can be removed entirely for driving with the top up.

State Safety Division Plan 'Check Your Car' Drive

ABANY, April 20—A voluntary "Check Your Car" safety program first presented by the State Division of Safety during May, 1949, will be featured again next month. It was announced today by Thomas Ryan, Director of the State Division of Safety.

Automobile dealers, garages, auto clubs, service organizations and allied establishments throughout the State which were of assistance in promoting the vehicle maintenance program last year, and others as well, have been advised of the plans of the Division and many have indicated their desire to participate in the project.

Thirteen percent of the automobiles involved in fatal accidents during 1949 were found to be in unsafe mechanical condition. Director Ryan said in emphasizing the importance of the program. "Every motorist should have a periodic check-up of his vehicle as a protection against accidents which endanger the lives and property of others as well as himself."

Safety Awards Given Railway Express Men

Merit Cards Presented Four Drivers by Dorse

Mayor Robert L. Dorse praised the four drivers of the Freeport Railway Express office for driving without accidents during 1949, when he presented them Safety-Merit Cards from the company at a special ceremony held in the Municipal Building Monday night.

Safety Merit cards, signed by A. L. Hammel, president of Railway Express Agency, were presented to Philip L. Quirk, (three-year safety record) who resides in Merrick; Lawrence Burke (one year) of Freeport; Charles Martech (one year) of Lindenhurst; and Frank Bigelow (one year) of East Islip.

The Freeport office also covers the towns of Bellmore, North Bellmore, Merrick, North Merrick, Roosevelt and Wantagh.

E. F. Echert, agent of the Freeport Express office said hundreds of similar presentation ceremonies were being held at express offices and municipal buildings throughout the nation. Last year there were 358 such ceremonies in as many cities, with a total of 12,638 drivers receiving safety awards representing from one to fourteen years of safe driving.

Republicans to Hold Card Party Tonight

Women's Committee Event in Elks Club Due to Draw Crowd

Mrs. Mabel Reiner, chairman of the women's committee of the Freeport Republican Club, is expecting a large turnout at the annual card party to be given in the Elks club-house tomorrow night. This event always has been a huge social and financial success in the past, and Mrs. Reiner expects this year will be no exception to the rule.

Assisting on the committee are Mrs. Harold W. Battin, treasurer; Mrs. Lorena Olsen, Mrs. Rose D. Thomas, Mrs. Catherine Sennick, Mrs. Eleanor Hammerl, Mrs. William Kiel, Mrs. H. Alfred Vollmer and Miss Hazel Combs.

Plans for the event were announced by Mrs. Reiner at the monthly meeting of the club Thursday night in the Legion Dugout. Vice-president Julius J. Birgehal presided in the absence of President Ralph L. Marshall.

Mrs. Edythe Sheehan, membership chairman, reported an enrollment of 688. New members accepted were Miss Grace Yamin, Edward B. Yamin, Harry Magidson, Adolph Grosberger, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Simone, Frederick B. Hartman, Bert Seaman and Mrs. Catherine Trautwein.

Dr. Walter Cane, of Hempstead, gave a talk on "Socialized Medicine," to which he is opposed. He told of his experience with such a plan in Germany from 1922 to 1925, its abuses, cost and shortcomings. He also referred to its operation in England and predicted that once it was adopted in the United States the situation would be just as bad. Among other things he said that under the plan physicians would be reduced to the position of civil service employees of the government in which capacity they would seek to serve their employer, instead of their patients.

Clam chowder was served at the close of the meeting. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Otilie Hager, chairman; Mrs. Virginia Lorey, Mrs. Frances Lyons, Mrs. Alfred Terry, Mrs. Josephine Sanrocco and Mrs. Irma Brouning.

Native Tells Rotary Of Life in Persia

Says People Distrust Russians and British But Admire Americans

John Karapetian, a student from Persia, or Iran, studying in this country, gave an interesting account of conditions in his country and his impressions of America in a talk to the members of the Rotary Club of Freeport Thursday night in the Elks clubhouse. He was introduced by John F. Woods.

Mr. Karapetian told of the glory of Persia a thousand years ago, but said that at this time, only about 5 percent of the people have wealth, most of the others living in poverty. He spoke of its position between satellites of Soviet Russia on the east and countries under the influence of the British on the west, with each pressing to dominate the country as a means of getting control of the entire area in Europe and Asia.

The situation is not new, Mr. Karapetian added, since Peter the Great, Czar of Russia had the same ambition many years ago. Mohammedanism, the religion of Persia, is against Communism, since Communists do not believe in God, and the people value their liberty highly, he said, but in a land of poverty the seeds of Communism are most likely to take root in fertile soil.

Mr. Karapetian said the Persians did not like the English any more than they do the Russians, since 300 years ago, they were tricked into selling the best of the country's oil fields to British representatives for $100 and the money derived from the oil is still going to England.

He said the British still dominated the country by dictating to Parliament what to do and what to refrain from doing. However, he saw hope in the fact that 5,000 students now studying in this country eventually will return home to lead in the introduction of American ideas and methods in Persia. While distrusting the British and Russians, Persians have faith in America, realizing that once it has made a treaty it tries in every way to live up to its terms, he commented.

Mr. Karapetian told of his bewilderment on arriving in this country three years ago to be caught in the whirl and bustle of the big city of New York. However, he said, he soon realized that in all this activity there was order brought about by the fact that the people were trained and educated to it. He found in Americans a kind hearted, considerate people and said he would work to have American ways introduced in Persia on his return to his native land.

Light Industry for Freeport

The Freeport Chamber of Commerce is to be commended on its campaign to bring light industry to Freeport. In a growing community like this something is needed to augment the increase in the number of home owners and keep the tax rate in bounds and industry and business are the answer.

Time was when industrial buildings and factories with belching chimneys were detrimental to a community. However, under present day improvements in construction and control this is not the case. Industry can be carried on in structures garden type in design that lend attractiveness to a village. And though they should be restricted to areas zoned especially for them, they can be of vast benefit in several ways. One such plant will be assessed at many times the value of homes occupying a much greater space and be taxed accordingly.

With the rising cost of municipal government and especially the great expense involved in bringing the needs of the school system up to date because of the war and depression during which no building could be carried on, an industrial development could make a lot of difference to home owners.

And there is another important matter involved. With the Long Island Rail Road in bankruptcy and struggling to get commuters to the city with its present facilities any marked increase in the number of commuters is going to aggravate the situation just that much more. Industries employing local residents will help to take the load off the railroad and help to solve the commuter problem.

All Freeporters interested in making the Chamber of Commerce the power and influence it should be in a community should attend the general meeting scheduled for Monday night, May 8, at Guy Lombardo's East Point Hotel, to learn the program it has in mind for the promotion of the welfare of Freeport.

"Debby"—Max Steele Harper & Brothers, N.Y., 1950.
It is rare that when a truly original theme is found in a novel. Books which deal with the writer's craft seem to have plots and counter-plots neatly ticketed for the trade, as glibly provided as the now tried "boy meets girl" formula. One begins to believe this, until a really original book like "Debby" by Max Steele comes to hand.

Original in concept, characterization and treatment, "Debby" is refreshing and thoroughly enjoyable reading. Max Steele is a young man. His ability as a writer should be firmly established in the literary world by the publication of this novel. The title, "Debby," is misleading, for it is not about a young southern girl or a bit of fluff. Debby is what the French call an "innocent," never mentally to grow more than a seven year old. She evolves a spirit and a grasp of the essentials of life which puts to shame the naive people by whom she is surrounded.

Debby comes to live and work for the Merrills and finally becomes indispensable to them. Bereft of her own twin, she takes the place of a well-meaning social worker. Debby has learned to play with children again. She wins over the Merrill youngsters and shares their problems and secrets.

The Merrills are exceptional people. Their relationship with Debby goes far beyond that of family and maid. During the course of Debby's tenure, an effort is made to permit Debby to see her own son, now nearly grown. Her meetings with Allan are surprising, amusing and pathetic episodes.

The development of the character of a mentally retarded person will seem to many readers, a questionable subject for an interesting well-rounded novel. As in the case of Evelyn Waugh's "The Loved One," some may be repelled by this. With perhaps two exceptions, the story is told in excellent taste. To many readers, however, the character of Debby will prove unforgettable.

The reading of "The Wall" by John Hersey, is essentially a personal experience. If you have read the book, you have lived in the Warsaw Ghetto. You are caught by its action once you have read its opening pages. Though sheer fiction, "The Wall" purports to be a collection of hastily written notes, set down at odd moments by an individual named Noah Levinson, from the beginning of the German occupation of Warsaw to the time of the Ghetto's final liquidation. Noah Levinson's observations of the thoughts and actions of his friends, of their drab days of suffering and their moments of terror and heroism, though intensely personal, become the frame which includes the lives of a whole community. By any standard one cares to apply, "The Wall" is a remarkable literary achievement. It is a lasting monument to the patience and belief and courage of a persecuted people. There is something in it for everyone of any race or creed who believes in the brotherhood of man. The Library now has five copies of "The Wall" available to borrowers.

Following are listed three German books recently added to the foreign collection in the Freeport Memorial Library: "Die Letzte von Seldowia," by Gottfried Keller, "Wanderwege in England," by Max Gallinger, and "Der Grune Heinrich," by Gottfried Keller.

Two Freeport Residents Lauded for Police Work
Two county detectives residing in Freeport have been cited by the Nassau County Police awards committee headed by Inspector Charles Russell in its report for 1949. Released this week by Commissioner John M. Beckmann.

Detective Dennis Ulmer, 57 Bennington ave., has been commended with a Floral Park resident for "perseverance and intelligence in the investigation of the crime, to which there were no witnesses," that led to the arrest of a man and woman for the murder of a child, slaying June 28, 1949. Names of candidates must be submitted before the meeting.

Plans have been announced for the 1950 contests for members and boys and girls up to 16 years of age.

VASIL'S VARIETIES

By Eddie Vasil

Without or with offense to friends or foes, I sketch your world exactly as it goes—Byron.
LEADER'S DIGEST... Freeport CHAMBER OF COMMERCE has top self-appointed press agent in tall and tanned ABERNETHY LEVY. He said, "After traveling all over the world, and after living many years in the much-heralded 'sunshine state' of Florida, I could not find any place that can compare in every way with Freeport. It is definitely a pleasure to finally settle in this home-town of mine." The Levys reside at 256 Penn. ave. . . . Nod of approval to BOB GOLDSCHMIDT and JOE GALLO (Freeport Chevy) for the improvement they created by buying and eliminating the eye-sore location adjacent to their Chevy showroom. . . . The new BILL MARTIN SR. looking the picture of health and back again in activity. (Bill Jr. following in his foot steps at the Freeport Federal Savings and Loan Bank.)

REPORTING THE NEWS... FIRE DEPARTMENT Annual Installation of Officers April 15th became another memorial event for the books. FHS auditorium packed congratulating ex-Chief FRANK SMITH on his successful tour of duty and well-wishing Chief-elect BOB LINSEY. Patrolman JOE BONEK's 18 Police Boys Clubs furnished program of professional-type entertainment. Reception at the South Shore Yacht Club with record-breaking attendance again proved that the firemen and their families are grand people and truly a representative cross-section of Freeport. . . . Chairlady CAROLYN F. PAGE headed the fourth annual Spring Dance April 14th, at the CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS OF AMERICA, Court Stella Maria, No. 828, at the South Shore Yacht Club. It was a memorable night; an evening of music and dancing—of laughter and frolic. It was a high-lite of the social season. (Is this type of organization that makes Freeport incomparable as a community.)

WHAT'S COOKING?... THE VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS, Henry Theodore Mohr Post, No. 860, will dedicate their new memorial building located at 398 Atlantic ave. this Saturday evening. DOMINIC A. PELLICIO has served as a most capable Commander, and his dynamic program has spearheaded this building campaign. Staff includes: EDWARD JOHANNIMANN, Sr. Vice Commander, S. RAYMOND STEAD, Jr. Vice Commander, Harry MOORE, Quartermaster, and DONALD B. JUDD, Adjutant. . . . CAPT. JACK LEAVENS of 25 Woodcleft ave. holds the annual award dinner of his "Capt. Jack Fishing Tournament" tonight at RUDY'S RESTAURANT on Woodcleft ave. List of prize winners shows that our sportsmen's paradise attracts guests from the entire east-coast area. (This Capt. Jack's life story would make a great feature—his background contains a wealth of activity.)

AROUND TOWN... The open house at PAUL LEFF's modern suite of insurance offices on W. Merrick rd. last Saturday attracted nearly two hundred guests. (Jack Greaney headed the staff of caterers.) . . . Didja know that ABE LITWAK was a top fistic ace in yesteryear? (Ask Dave Levy.) Gave Abe credit for being a Freeport business booster, although his grand old liver Boston, he bought everything from bassie to bicycle here and personally drove to Beantown with the goods. (Is he a proud grandpop?) . . . EDDIE WALTERS (Strasale Motors tycoon) returned from his Mexican vacation. . . . Freeport Patrolman EDDIE MILLER joined the buggy brigade with his baby blonde honey. (Brother can Johnny Chutano ever repeat?) . . . The RENE CARREAU Testimonial Dinner-Dance slated for April 28th at the Freeport Elks Club. (Edward F. Meaney, PER, serving as Chairman.)

ON THE MAIL DESK... Attention GEORGE MORRISSEY: Cute letter from DR. CARL MORROW WOLF (Dental Surgeon, 126 W. Merrick rd.) informing that "Vamp" represents "Volunteer Association of Machine Pumpers." . . . BETTY EGAN of 171 Craig ave., Freeport, adds the following: A fireman is called a vamp because at one time in England, "vamp" meant "to tramp" or "walk," and the volunteer firemen generally went to the fires on foot. (Now honorable Judges, have you made a decision?)

IN BEHALF OF OUR ANIMAL FRIENDS... From the LONG ISLAND HUMANE and DOG PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION, Inc. Our and heretofore, though intensely personal, become the frame which includes the lives of a whole community. By any standard one cares to apply, "The Wall" is a remarkable literary achievement. It is a lasting monument to the patience and belief and courage of a persecuted people. There is something in it for everyone of any race or creed who believes in the brotherhood of man. The Library now has five copies of "The Wall" available to borrowers.

JUST FOR A SMILE... The owner of a little joint was going crazy trying to keep up with his chiseling bartenders. He hired and fired, hired and fired, until, even the customers got fed up with a new face behind the stick daily. They cornered the owner and explained that to protect his health and his business he would have to recognize and accept this annoying fact. It was part of the business. The owner reluctantly accepted and agreed. The next day he silently watched: The first customer spent a dollar. The bartender looked around and not spotting the boss, rang up a half and put a half in his pocket. This was repeated with the next sale for two dollars. One in the pocket—one in the till. The third party spent three bucks. The bartender again looked around, but this time put it all in his pocket. The owner finally walked up and said: "What's the matter Sam? Aren't we partners anymore?"

DURYEA ORCHID CREATION... This week's Duryea Orchid is awarded as a token, to the wife of a veteran Main Street merchant for his continued, yet unheard-of public service through the years. His suave and understanding manner and his many admirable characteristics have made him the Dean of the Main Stem. His life-time is studded with a long record of enviable community service and yet he is constantly "drafted" to render advice and help in establishing policy. His business career has become a salient example of American democracy at work. For being a modest, yet so important a part of Freeport; it is with great pleasure that the Duryea Orchid is awarded to MRS. DAVE LEVY, as a symbol of public appreciation for her husband's grand work. Congratulations!

EDITOR'S NOTES... The Central Council PTA "Student Aid Loan Fund" has become one of the worst cases in our village. MRS. HARRY FEINSTEIN has been drafted all to help launch the May 1st "Night of Stars" benefit. . . . Lovely Latin ANTOINETTE FIGARO will say "Yes" in the Holy Redeemer Church April 23rd. (Father J. J. Madden officiating.) Her sister is Marie, the charming brunette in Brier's. . . . Leading a double life: The beauty working in Kent's on W. Merrick rd. and the same HARRY HARDY who plays leads in L.I. Rock. Freeport's Louis Kress manages this enterprise. . . . MRS. JOSEPH of the Freeport eBauty Shop got the bid to hair-style those lovelies on that big TV show. (This fellow is really an artist.) . . . CHAMBER OF COMMERCE 2nd Open House slated for Lombardo's May 8th instead of May 1st. (So not to conflict with the PTA benefit show on that date. That's cooperation.)

Dorothy R. Henchey Weds Chas. W. Frahme

Book Review Group Plans Reception for Artists

Plans for an artists' reception to be given by the Freeport Book Review Group on Monday night, May 15 in the Freeport Memorial Library, were announced at the April meeting by Mrs. Elinor Fletcher, during the business session.

Mrs. Harold C. Williams reviewed Vannevar Bush's "Modern Arms and Free Men." Mrs. Williams said she had been almost afraid to read Mr. Bush's best-seller for two reasons; afraid she wouldn't understand what he had to write and afraid of what he would have to say. However, she found the book both interesting, reassuring and not too difficult to read.

She said Mr. Bush has a nice quiet sense of humor and gives the impression that "if we just use our heads and keep our guns up, everything will work out." The reviewer added that the book, which begins with World War I and the beginning of precision manufacture and mass production, should really be read to be understood. Concerning the atom bomb, Mr. Bush writes to be really effective a cheap and accurate method of delivering it and a cheaper and more accurate method of protection from attack by it must be devised. He believes America would never be defeated by a totalitarian power because fear is never as conducive to achievement as freedom.

Mrs. Marjorie Willet read two parables from Khalil Gibran's "The Wanderer" to show that real poetry can also be found in prose.

Vachel Lindsay, James Weldon Johnson, Alfred Noyes and William Henry Drummond were among the authors whose poems were read. The French-Canadian dialogue of Mr. Drummond's Johnnie Courteau was read by Mrs. Willet.

TEACHER TO ADDRESS SISTERHOOD OF TEMPLE

She will be introduced by Mrs. Albert Gutman, program chairman. Miss O'Malley is a teacher at Port Washington and Junior High School and lectures at Adelphi and Hofstra Colleges. The meeting will be open to the general public.

McLaughlin Outlines Jones Inlet Problem

Town Engineer Carroll W. McLaughlin considered mainly the need of improving Jones Inlet in his talk on "Town Waterways" at the monthly meeting of the Northwest Civic Association Friday night in the home of Harry J. Berkowitz, 215 North Ocean ave. He told of the efforts to have Congress appropriate $2,500,000 with which to construct a jetty on the Short Beach side of the Inlet to augment that laid by the Town of Hempstead on the Point Lookout Shore, which he said remained in position but he could not tell what held it there.

The project was approved by the Government in 1941, but efforts to obtain the necessary funds for the work have been unsuccessful to date. With the support of U. S. Senator Herbert H. Lehman, a Democrat, who has joined with others pressing for the inclusion of the appropriation in the Rivers and Harbors Bill, hope of success has been raised.

Engineer McLaughlin told of how not only is the passage through Jones Inlet, with its constantly shifting channel hazardous, but he pointed out that should the Point Lookout jetty give way residences in the first four or five streets from the water front in that community, would be jeopardized. He also showed how a waterway to Freeport would be created if the Jones Inlet project was carried out. Maps indicating how parts of Short Beach are now located where Point Lookout used to be were shown to indicate what delay in carrying out the project has meant.

The State, Nassau County, Town of Hempstead and Freeport Village Board have offered to pay the entire cost of carrying out the improvement, if the Federal Government will reimburse them later, but to no avail, the engineer said.

President Arthur Muller presided at the meeting. Need of improved lighting in the class rooms in the Columbus ave. school was discussed and the matter was referred to the board of directors which will submit a report at the May meeting. A report was given concerning the proposed new school for the southwest section of the village and the conference on the matter held by the Board of Education at which the cost of the structure was put at $995,500, plus $300,000 if an auditorium was included. Several members expressed the opinion that the same facilities could be provided at a considerable reduced cost if the plans were modified.

Complaint was made that the block bounded by Washburn ave., East Dean and Jay sts., and Graffing pl. was being used as a dumping ground. It was decided to take the matter up with the Village Board. It was also voted to ascertain whether the new owner of a plot in the area had had three trees in front of his property cut down obtained permission of the village authorities before doing so. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
"Probation after Death" is the lesson-sermon subject for Sunday at 11 A. M. in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, West Merrick rd. and Elm pl. The golden text is "God hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own power" (I Corinthians 6:14). The sermon will be from Psalms 27:1, 23:1, King James version.

crease to more than 875 next year, and pass the thousand mark by 1952-53. However, permits have been granted for 272 new houses, many of which are already occupied, upsetting all previous calculations.

To meet the situation, President Giblyn told of how some Archer st. pupils were sent to the Columbus ave. school last year and are being sent to Seaman ave. this year, and indicated the old Seaman ave. building would be used to take care of the overflow next year.

He explained that it is proposed to erect an 18 classroom building plus two kindergarten, health room, a cafeteria, a gymnasium, library, home-making room, music room, administrative offices, principal's and clerk's rooms. This project would provide accommodations for from 500 to 600 pupils. The present Grove st. elementary pupils also would be housed in the new structure.

Another proposal was to have an auditorium to be used as an all purpose room. Frederic F. Wiedersum, the architect, said that the present estimated figure for the new building would be $999,995, and that the auditorium would add $300,000 to the price. A vote taken at the meeting indicated a unanimous demand for the auditorium.

Another meeting will be held shortly.
